OUTDOOR TEAM BUILDING EVENT

ROMAN RACES

Activity Description

A gladiatorial challenge.

Another unique team experience from the Blue Hat stable!

Using our totally unique mechanical design that makes the horse's legs gallop, teams must design, construct and race their own horse and chariot for a series of races as the finale of the event.

The design and build phase takes place indoors or out. We provide our unique mechanical horse skeletons and the kart for the teams to build on. Teams then design to a theme which you can choose to match your conference message/ brand identity.

An incredibly engaging activity, the team will need to plan effectively to ensure they get everything ready in time, before they move to the bespoke track circuit (a car park, tennis court, area of grass, or inside if your venue is big enough) for the finale races.

A one of a kind event that will bring your team together in a memorable, shared experience of epic proportions and stunningly visual!

Client Testimonials

Here's what previous clients thought of Roman Races...

“Unique experience, our participants had great fun despite under hot sun. Most importantly our end user clients were happy with the end result”

HSBC

“Everything was totally fab. I've had endless positive feedback from all my team. Roman Races stole the show at the staff engagement day. Thank you to your whole team who made it possible.”

GE Aviation

“Blue Hat has helped us provide a memorable day for 500+ of our staff on a rainy September day, and the positive feedback is still coming a month later. Our project managers Mark and Ami helped us from planning to delivery to the smallest details, and the Blue Hat team's enthusiasm and professionalism impressed and engaged us all. From 60 people collaborating on a single giant painting to a really fun kart race, our day was fun filled with all details covered by Blue Hat. Thanks guys, we are already looking forward to next year!”
